DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 7 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Saab (US 5624392) further in view of Goddard et al. (US 5992158). Saab teaches all of the limitations of the claim except the supply lumen being insulated. Goddard et al. disclose a similar device and teach that it is old and well known in the art to insulate the supply lumen (see column 8 line 49) to isolate the fluid from ambient conditions. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to insulate the supply lumen of Saab to isolate the fluid from ambient conditions.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 1/22/04 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant argues that Goddard fails to supply a teaching of the fluid supply tube comprising a wall having insulative properties to reduce heat transfer from the return lumen to the central lumen of the fluid supply tube. Applicant relies upon the disclosure of Goddard that the returning exhaust fluid along the exhaust passageway can help to keep the incoming fluid cool to support the argument. While it does appear that a recitation that the exhaust fluid helps keep the incoming fluid cool would indicate that return lumen and supply lumen were not totally thermally isolated, one cannot disregard the fact that the supply tube does have insulative properties since it is comprised of heat insulating material (see col. 8 line 59). Therefore, the claim limitation of "insulative properties to reduce heat transfer" is met by the disclosure of Goddard.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

Art Unit: 3739

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claim 7 is rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1 and 12 of U.S. Patent No. 6231595. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the difference between claim 7 of the application and claims 1 and 12 of the patent lies in the fact that the patent claims include many more elements and is thus much more specific. Thus the invention of claims 1 and 12 are in effect a "species" of the "generic" invention of claim 1. It has been held that the generic invention is "anticipated" by the "species". See In re Goodman, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993). Since claim 7 is anticipated by claims 1 and 12, it is not patentably distinct from claims 1 and 12.
